

Peer Support and Supervision

The period of time between this module and the next is six months. It is important that during this period you have regular contact with your peer team. Make appointments with each other and check in at regular intervals.

I recommend, if it suits your learning style, that you work together with your peer support buddy to complete your homework assignment.

I also recommend that you get together in study groups to practice exercises of your choice from any of the training modules. Meeting in study groups will support you to maintain the continuity of your growth during these months.

Professional Consultation Support:

The training assistants are available to do phone or in person consultations with you during the period between training modules. These consultations are scheduled by appointment. These appointments are for the purpose of supporting you to find your way to and through your next steps personally and professionally.

Phone consultations with me can be arranged by calling Sandra to set up an appointment time. My charge for trainees is $2.50/minute or $150/hour. There is no minimum or maximum time you may ask for.

Calls about your Creative Home Projects are not considered as a professional consultation and will not be charged for. If you call one of us about your project and you discover the need for Consultation Support, you will be charged for the Consultation Support time. Track the time and send your consultant a payment.

Calls to Sandra or myself concerning the administration, assisting, or practitioner training workshops are not consultations and are not charged for.

I encourage you to have support from your private therapist and related healthcare support people. You deserve the support!!

I appreciate the effort you are putting into your work and your passion. I look forward to seeing you at the next training module.

Joyful regards,

Ray
