

Chemical Interventions

Delivery of Blocks and Nitrous Oxide

Vereinfachte schematische Darstellung

Spinal-/Periduralanästhesie

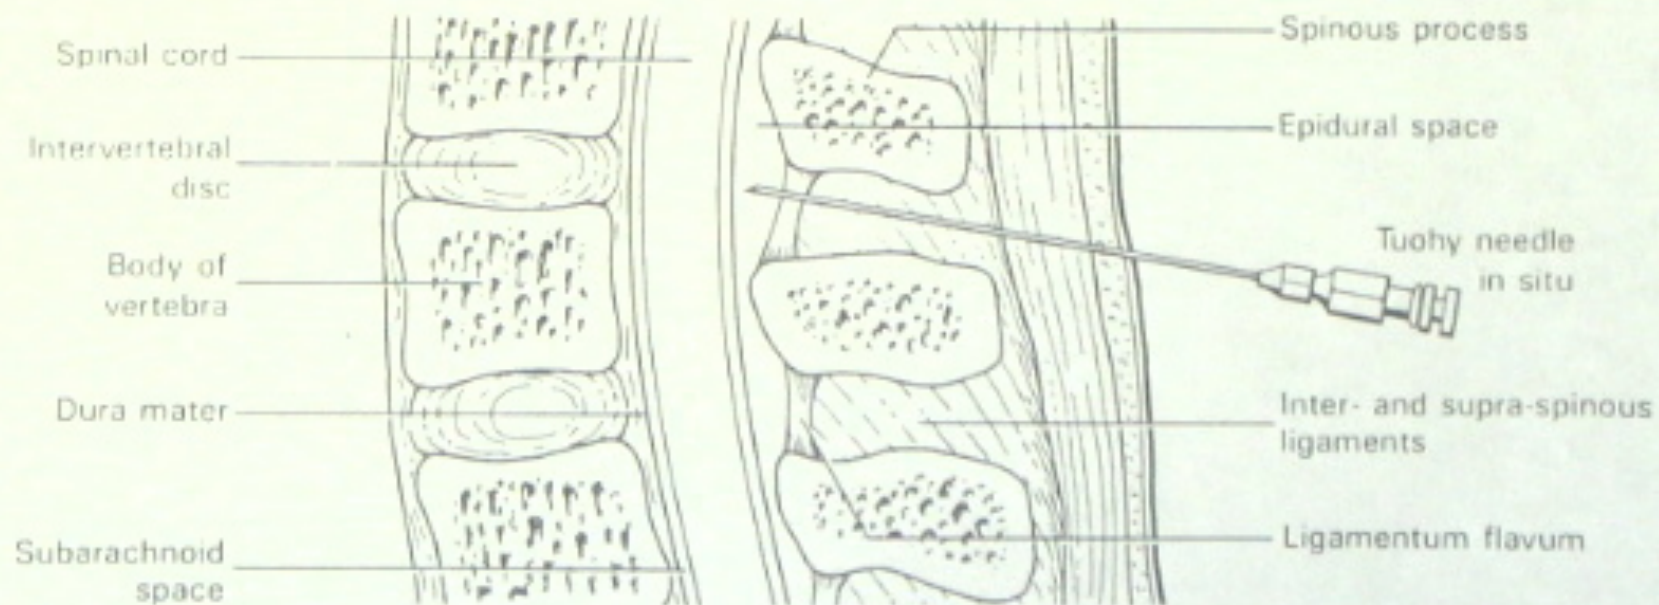

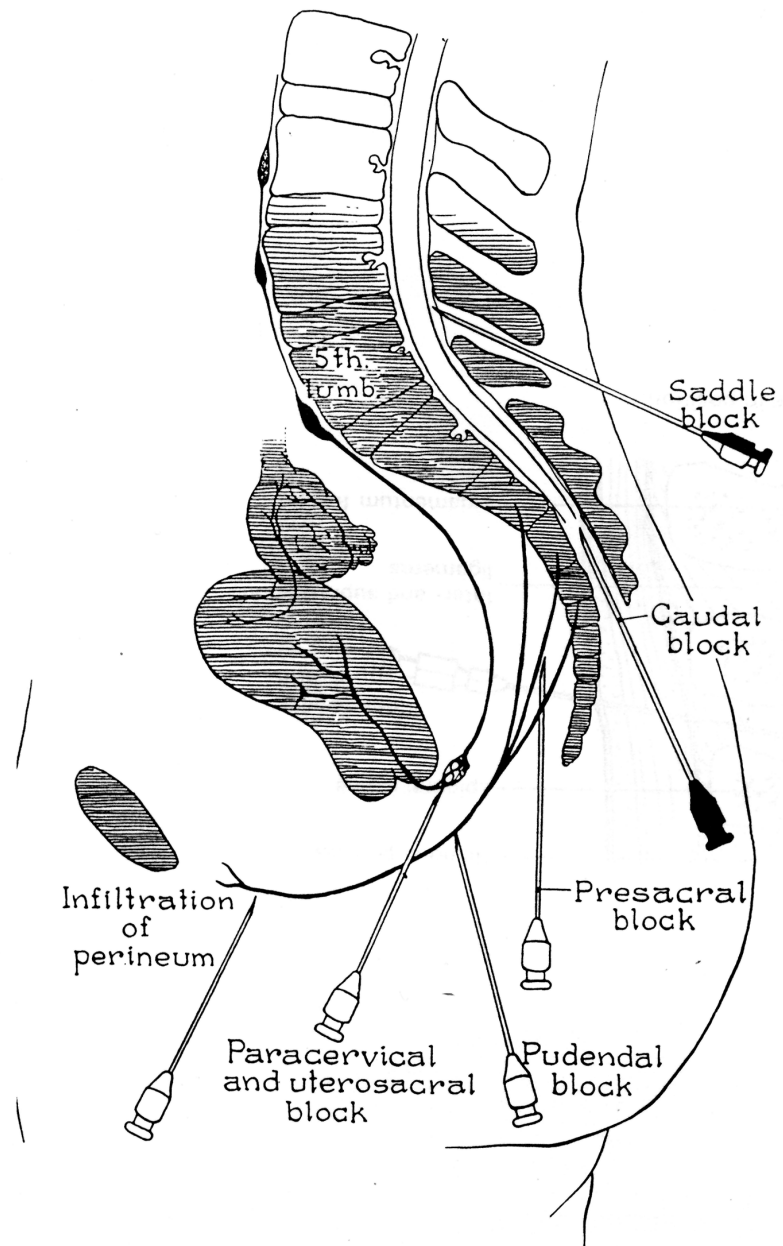

Fig. 28.2
Sagittal section of the lumbar spine with Tuohy needle in position.

g. 1. Schematic diagram of the various methods of blocking obstetric pain.

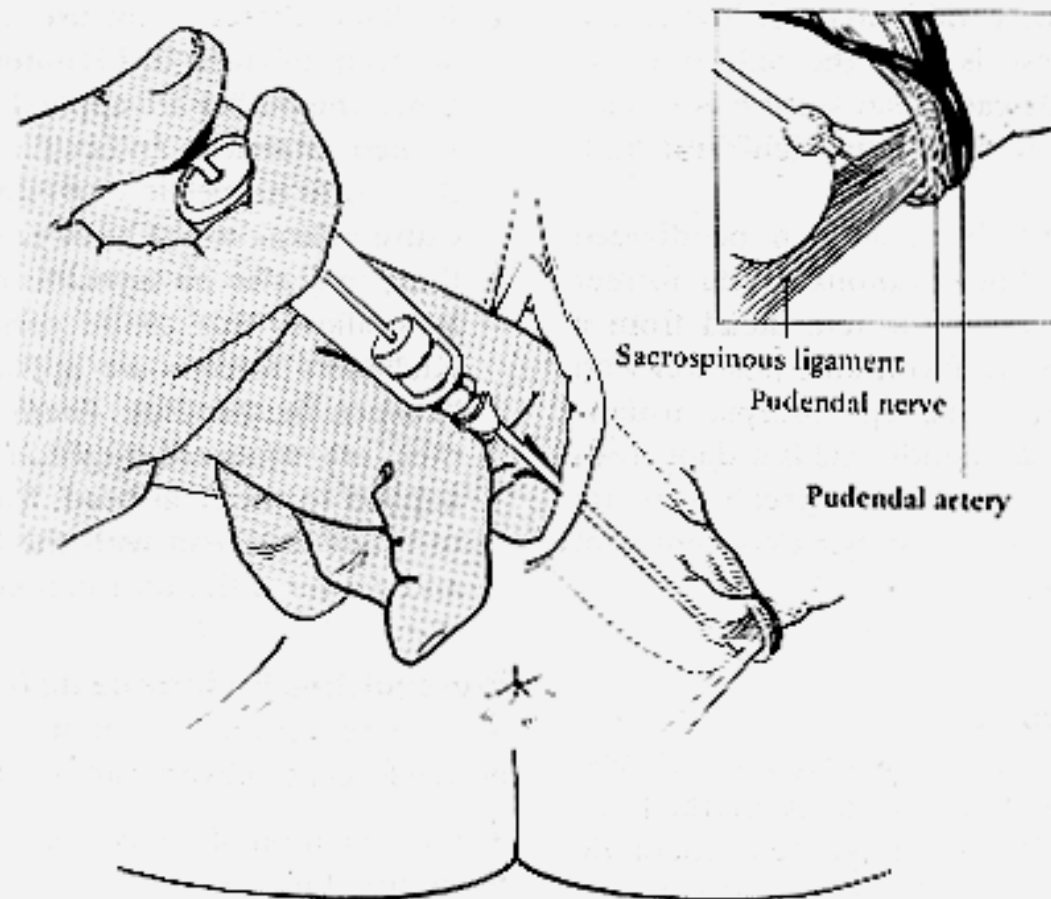

Fig. 28.3
Locating the pudendal nerve per vaginam.

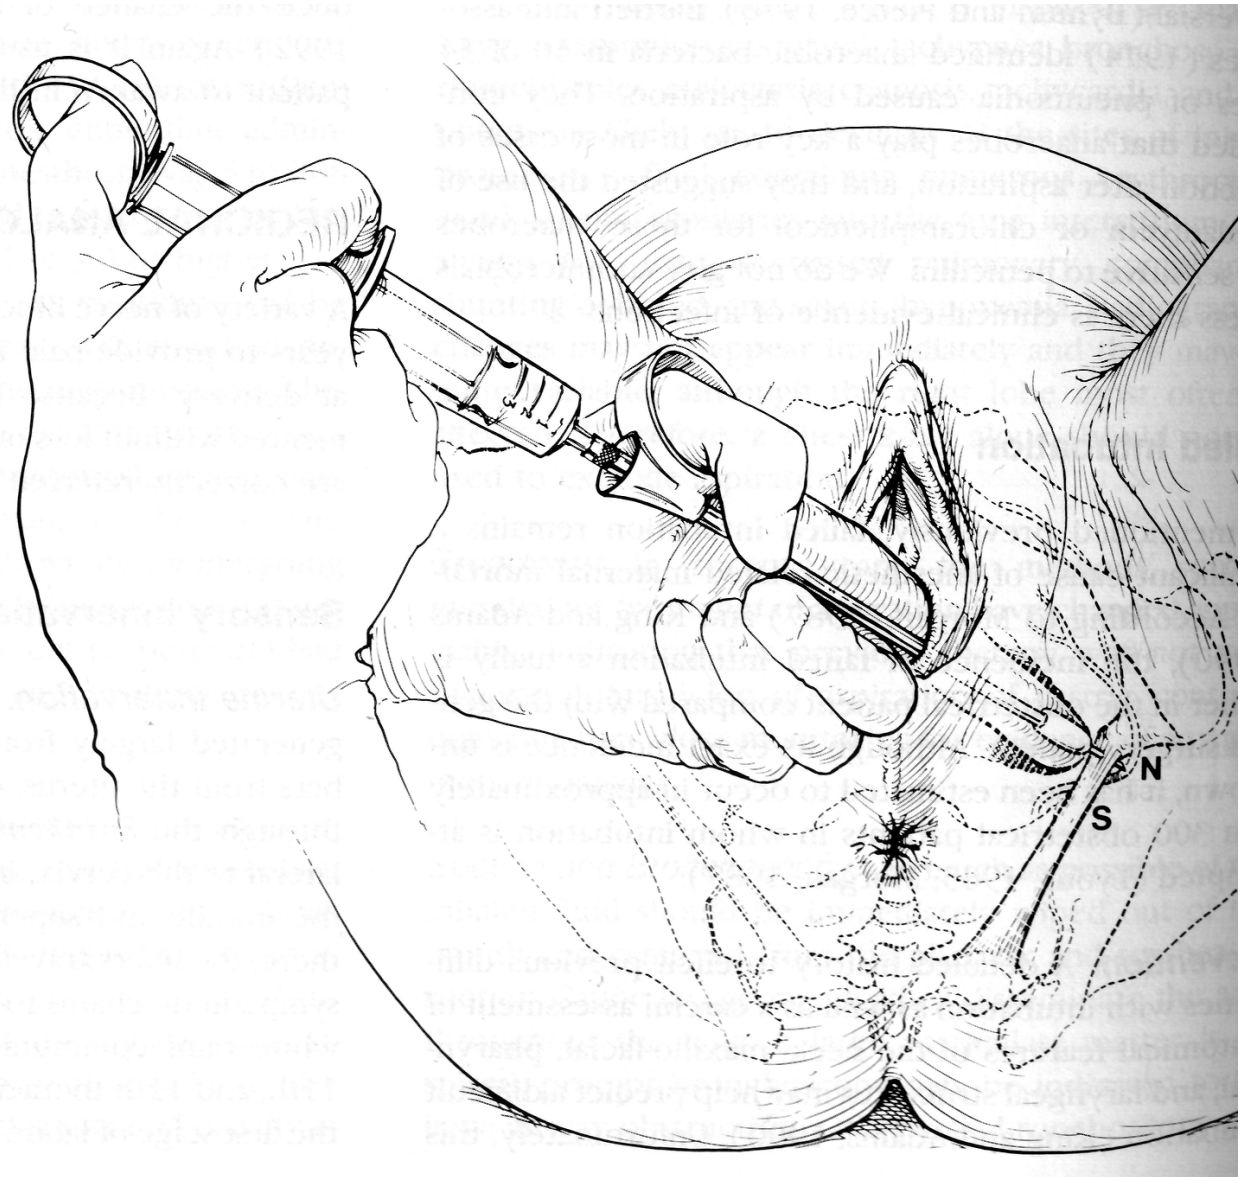

Fig. 16-1. Local infiltration of the pudendal nerve. Transvaginal technique showing the needle extended beyond the needle guard and passing through the sacrospinous ligament (S) to reach the pudendal nerve (N).

At ease and happy, a woman rests between contractions in the first stage has nitrous oxide (laughing gas) at hand to use as she wants, which is Europe. The baby will be delivered in this same room (as the scales and the background). Using one room only is an excellent arrangement that appear in the United States, too.

